

Sense D: which methods are ever the best in a cell – and does it survive a test?

Grey is the majority everywhere: the nominal winner usually cannot be distinguished from the runner-up.

